Joseph Connell's barnacle experiment

This experiment showed that Balanus could live only in the lower intertidal zone, while Chthamalus could live in both the upper and lower zones, but was outcompeted by Balanus in the lower zone.

Read accessible description

"[Connell's] studies … have improved our understanding of the mechanisms that shape population and community dynamics, diversity, and demography."

Stephen Schroeter

Marine scientist