

Humans and their closest relatives, chimpanzees, are both primates. This shows how primates have evolved over the last 66 million years.

Read accessible description