of old-growth trees that has not undergone or been subjected to any unnatural changes, such as logging.

