

In honeybee colonies, female worker bees look after the queen bee. They build the honeycomb, gather nectar and pollen, and feed larvae, but they do not breed.