grassland or a palm oil plantation, and even fewer in industrial or urban settings. Human conflicts also blight forest, the worst example being the Agent Orange chemical used to defoliate trees during the Vietnam War.