Disrupting the ecosystem

Large-scale fishing operations disturb the balance of marine ecosystems in various ways, depleting the target fish species, upsetting the food chain, and damaging the marine environment.

Read accessible description

“I didn’t take the fish from the goddamn water.”

John Crosbie
