Indonesia are two of the most polluted rivers in the world. At the current rate of consumption this situation will deteriorate further. By 2030, it is estimated that around 700 million people will have to move from their homes due to intense water scarcity. Ecosystems will also suffer.

Easily accessible freshwater is a very fragile resource. Only a tiny fraction of the total amount of water available on our planet is immediately fit for human consumption.

Read accessible description