

A CUMULATIVE BODY OF KNOWLEDGE

INDIGENOUS PEOPLES AND LOCAL COMMUNITIES

IN CONTEXT

KEY FIGURES

Hindou Oumarou Ibrahim (1984–), Aslak Holmberg (1989–), Uyunkar Domingo Peas Nampichkai

BEFORE

1995 The UN declares the first International Day of the World's Indigenous Peoples, held each year on August 9.

2004 Jacinta Ruru sets out the cultural importance of mountains for the Pakeha and Māori peoples of New Zealand.

2008 Ecuador is the first country to enshrine rights of nature in its constitution.

AFTER

2024 The Indigenous Kukama women in Peru win legal entity status for the Marañón River.

2025 New Zealand grants legal personhood to Taranaki Maunga, a dormant volcano sacred to Māori tribes.

In December 2022, the United Nations Biodiversity Conference agreed on a Global Biodiversity Framework. This outlined a series of goals to be