

A female grizzly and her cubs forage in Yellowstone. A female's home range is 300–550 sq miles (775–1,400 sq km), while a male's is as much as 2,000 sq miles (5,000 sq km).

"Uncertainty is just about the only certainty in PVA."

Steven Beissinger

American conservation biologist