

Wind turbines are explained to young students. The SBI advocates ecological education in schools and universities so that people can learn how to manage and sustain the biosphere.