

Why invasive species succeed.

They have fewer enemies than native species.

They are well-suited to the new environment.

They out-compete native species.

They are toxic to native species.

BACK TO ARTICLE