

Seasonal changes in the weather.

Plants grow leaves, produce flowers and fruit, and shed their leaves.

Mammals breed and raise young. Some mammals go into hibernation over the winter.

Birds nest and breed. Many birds (and some other animals) make long-distance migrations.

After hatching, amphibians, insects, and some other animals metamorphose from one body form to another.