

Humankind is altering the environment with processes such as deforestation and urban sprawl.

Such actions have consequences.

Data gathered from global MAB reserves helps to generate a picture of what these consequences could be.

The MAB programme predicts the consequences of today’s actions on tomorrow’s world.

BACK TO ARTICLE