Ans : (a) In the revenue administration of the Delhi sultanate, the administration of revenue collection was known as "Amil". The Iqta system was a salient feature of the Delhi Sultanate. Its main objective was to eliminate the feudal system prevalent in India and to connect remote regions of the empire with the center. It began during the reign of Iltutmish. The Delhi Sultanate was divided into several provinces, which were called Iqtas, which was governed by Nayak, Wali and Mukti. The post of Mir Bakshi was very important in the Mansabdari system of the Mughals. It was only after signing the letter of Sarkhat by him the army used to get every month's salary. Waqianavis appointed in the provinces sent messages directly to Mir Bakshi.

6. Building 'Kalyaana Mandapas' was a notable feature in the temple construction in the kingdom of–

(a) Chalukya (b) Chandela
(c) Rashtrakuta (d) Vijayanagara

Ans : (d) The creation of the Kalyan Mandap in the Vijayanagara kingdom was a characteristic feature of temple construction. The Vijayanagar Empire has been the patron of every genre of art. Significant development took place during this regime in the field of music, literature and architecture. Despite being covered under Dravidian art, it can be said that Vijayanagara added many new elements to the architecture. A series of subsidiary temples were also linked with the main temples, known as Ammanshirin. The pillars of the Vitthal Swamy temple in Vijayanagara had musical qualities; hence they were also called musical pillars. The construction of one thousand pillared pavilions was the ideal form of Vijayanagara temple architecture.

7. Consider the following statements :

1. Saint Nimbarka was a contemporary of Akbar.
2. Saint Kabir was greatly influenced by Shaikh Ahmad Sirhindi.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

(a) 1 only (b) 2 only
(c) Both 1 and 2 (d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans : (d) Saint Nimbark was not a contemporary of Akbar. Nimbarkacharya was the promoter of the Nimbark Sect. Other names of this sect are the Sanak sect, Hans sect, Devarshi sect. He promoted 'Dwaita Dwait'. He was born in 1250 AD at Arunashar near Vaidyauryapatan, situated on the coast of the Godavari in South India. Akbar was a prominent Mughal ruler who was born on 15 October, 1542 in Amarkot, Pakistan. Kabirdasji was born in 1440 AD in Varanasi. He was an Indian mystic poet and saint. He was the founder of the Gyanashri Nirguna branch in the Bhakti movement era in Hindi literature. Sheikh Ahmad Sirhindi was born in 1564 AD. He was a noted Indian Sufi scholar of the 16th and 17th centuries. Hence, both statements are not correct.

8. With reference to Mian Tansen, which one of the following statements is not correct?

(a) Tansen was the title given to him by Emperor Akbar.
(b) Tansen composed Dhrupads on Hindu gods and goddesses.
(c) Tansen composed songs on his patrons.
(d) Tansen invented many Ragas.

Ans : (a) The title of Tansen was not conferred by Akbar. Historians have two opinions in this regard. According to the first opinion, the title of Tansen was conferred by Raja Vikramjit Singh Tomar of Gwalior. According to the second opinion, this title was conferred by Raja Ramchandra Singh of Bandhavgarh. Tansen was one of the prominent Navratnas in Akbar's court. He was a great musician. He had studied music from Swami Haridas ji. His real name was Ramtanu Pandey. He was born in 1506 AD in Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh. Before Akbar's court, he was in the court of King of Rewa. Pleased with Tansen's talent, Akbar gave him the title of 'Mia'. The famous Dhrupad style of singing was started by Tansen and his mentor Swami Haridas. Tansen was the creator of many ragas such as Darbari Kanada, Mian ki Todi, Mian ki Malhar and Mian ki Sarang. He composed two important works of music called Sangeeta Sara and Ragamala.

9. Who among the following Mughal Emperors shifted emphasis from illustrated manuscripts to album and individual portrait?

(a) Humayun (b) Akbar
(c) Jahangir (d) Shah Jahan

Ans : (c) The Mughal emperor Jahangir focused more on pictorial manuscripts and individual portraits than focusing on illustrated manuscripts. During Jahangir's reign, there was a lot of uproar in the field of painting. He was a lover of self-portraiture. Under Jahangir, painting acquired greater charm, refinement and dignity. He had a great fascination for nature and took delight in the portraiture of birds, animals and flowers.

10. With reference to Mughal India, what is/are the difference /differences between Jagirdar and Zamindar?

1. Jagirdars were holders of land assignments in lieu of judicial and police duties, whereas Zamindars were holders of revenue rights without obligation to perform any duty other than revenue collection.
2. Land assignments to Jagirdars were hereditary and revenue rights of Zamindars were not hereditary.

Select the correct answer using the code given below.

(a) 1 only (b) 2 only
(c) Both 1 and 2 (d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans : (d) The jagirdars were mansabdars who were given certain revenue areas on the basis of Zamindari (estimated income) in exchange for some revenue areas. Those were called jagirs. The foundation of Jagirdari system arose during the reign of Akbar. Jagirs were not hereditory. The Jagirdar had only the right to determine and collect revenue, while the administrative rights were vested in the Faujdar. In the Mughal period, the zamindars were landlords who had the hereditary right to collect land revenue, from villages. For the collection of land revenue a part of the revenue was given to the landlords as commission. Hence, both statements 1 and 2 are incorrect.

11. With reference to the British colonial rule in India, consider the following statements :

1. Mahatma Gandhi was instrumental in the abolition of the system of 'indentured labour'.
2. In Lord Chelmsford's 'War conference', Mahatma Gandhi did not support the resolution on recruiting Indians for World War.
3. Consequent upon the breaking of Salt Law by Indian people, the Indian National Congress was declared illegal by the colonial rulers.

Which of the statements given above are correct?

(a) 1 and 2 only (b) 1 and 3 only
(c) 2 and 3 only (d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans : (b) The British took Indians to work in all of their colonial countries. These people were called labourers brought on the agreement. The word agreement later changed to the word 'Girmit' and then Girmitiya. The Girmitiya system was introduced by the British in 1834 AD and was declared prohibited in 1917 AD. Mahatma Gandhi started a campaign in South Africa against this inhuman practice.
Lord Chelmsford convened a war conference on 27th April, 1918, in which Gandhiji was also present. In this conference, the Viceroy called upon Indians to join the army, which was supported by Mahatma Gandhi. Hence, Gandhi was also called a recruiting agent. In 1930 Gandhiji launched the countrywide salt satyagraha. The political atmosphere in the country became unstable, so the British government banned the Congress by declaring it illegal.

12. With reference to land reforms in independent India, which one of the following statements is correct?

(a) The ceiling laws were aimed at family holdings and not individual holdings.
(b) The major aim of land reforms was providing agricultural land to all the landless.
(c) It resulted in cultivation of cash crops as a predominant form of cultivation.
(d) Land reforms permitted no exemptions to the ceiling limits.

Ans : (b) At the time of the independence of the country, ownership of land was concentrated in the hands of only a few people. This increased exploitation of farmers and at the same time, remained a major obstacle in the direction of socio-economic development of the rural population. India's land reform programs included the elimination of intermediaries, tenancy reforms, consolidation of land and fixation of land per family and main distribution of surplus land among landless people. Laws of land ownership were enacted in various states in the 1950 to 60s, which were amended in 1972 on the directions of the Central Government.
