24. What explains the eastward flow of the equatorial counter-current?
(a) The Earth's rotation on its axis
(b) Convergence of the two equatorial currents
(c) Difference in salinity of water
(d) Occurrence of the belt of calm near the equator

Ans : (b) The equatorial counter currents are driven by distinct surface wind patterns in the tropics. Strong westward trade winds result in westward surface flow in most of the tropical Atlantic and Pacific oceans. However, several hundred miles (km) north of the equator, the winds are much weaker in comparison. The stronger winds to the south pile up water where the winds are weak. As a result, the surface of the ocean can be upto 6 inches (15 cm) higher and the thermocline (region of strongest decrease of temperature with increasing depth) as much as 328 ft. (100m) deeper than it is directly to the north. The excess water flows eastward under the influence of the Earth's rotation, giving rise to the equatorial counter currents.

25. "Each day is more or less the same, the morning is clear and bright with a sea breeze; as the Sun climbs high in the sky, heat mounts up, dark clouds form, then rain comes with thunder and lightning. But rain is soon over."

(a) Savannah (b) Equatorial
(c) Monsoon (d) Mediterranean

Ans : (b) Equatorial climate is characterized by consistently high temperatures (around 30ºC), with plentiful precipitation (150-1,000 cm), heavy cloud cover, and high humidity with very little annual temperature variation. Wet equatorial regions lie within about 10º latitude of the Equator.

Select the correct answer using the code given below :
(a) 1 only (b) 2 and 3 only
(c) 1 and 3 only (d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans : (d) The periodical rise and fall of the sea level, once or twice a day, mainly due to attraction of sun and moon. Another factor is centrifugal force, which is the force that acts to counter balance gravity.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?
(a) 1 only (b) 2 only
(c) Both 1 and 2 (d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans : (b) Westerlies flow between latitudes 30-60º North and 30-60º South and not 30º N and 60º S. Western Disturbance occurs in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh and Nepal to describe on extra tropical storm originating in the Mediterranean that brings sudden winter rain and snow to the northwestern parts of the Indian subcontinent. This is a non-monsoonal precipitation pattern driven by the westerlies.
