Swamp things

Swamps are found in many different parts of the world. They are areas of boggy land covered in still or slow-moving water. Plants and trees grow in and around the swamps, making them an ideal kingdom for reptiles.

This bite has venom

Unlike most venomous snakes, the mangrove snake has fangs at the back of its mouth. This means that it chews and poisons its prey at the same time.

