80. It should be noted here that the kind of economic reforms India started in 1991–92 were almost ditto suggested by the Eighth Plan. The suggestions were based on India's own experience and the experiences of the world economies after the Second World War. The Sixth and the Seventh Plans had suggested almost on the similar lines which made the Governments of the time go for the so-called 'liberalisation' moves in the mid-1980s.

90. While people in some areas have socio-cultural similarities (as in the hill areas with no tribal population and the people living in the plains i.e villages) they lack economic similarities. Similarly, while people living in the tribal areas and the hill areas have economic similarities they lack socio-cultural similarities. That is why all these three habitations had three sets of planning patterns.
