face the same kind of crises should come together and go for a joint effort, from inside the WTO, for the revisions or relaxations in its provisions. Morality related and ethical issues might be used as eye-openers and a handy tool to have the attention of the developed nations and the WTO alike.

Prima facie this suggestion looked as a preach easier said than done. But post-1995 times saw a polarisation of like-minded countries inside the WTO that finally culminated into failure of the Seatle Round of the WTO deliberations. The most powerful country in the world failed to convene a meeting that too in its most distant region (the Alaska!)—a moral triumph of the poor over the rich. This incidence while indicating a possible failure of the WTO itself, boosted the morale of the developing countries to go for stronger groupings and even sub groupings under the WTO.

After the Doha Round the USA had hinted to forget multilateralism and indicated its intentions towards bilateralism. The European Union had the same intentions but it did not show it as openly as the USA. The year 2002 came as a watershed period for the WTO when the EU in its new diplomatic move announced to hear the agriculture-related issues of the developing nations. The USA announced the intentions few days after the EU announcement—just few days before the Cancun Meet of the WTO. The Hongkong deliberation of the WTO, though it did not give anything concrete to the develolping world, provided enough hope, there is no doubt in it. The real picture emerges in the next meet for which the different pressure groups had serious meets and deliberations on their alternatives of bargaining power.

(ii) The second level suggestion to India was in the area of its preparedness for the WTO regime. India was required to set new and internationally best standards in the area of production by boosting the areas such as—research and development, biotechnology, information technology, health and phytosanitary matters. This will make Indian goods and services compete in the international market[72].

WTO AND AGRICULTURAL SUBSIDIES[73]