standards. The assessment recognises that the Indian financial system remained largely stable on account of a sound regulatory and supervisory regime. However, the assessment identifies some gaps in[18] –

(i) International and domestic supervisory information sharing and co-operation;

(ii) Consolidated supervision of financial conglomerates; and

(iii) Some limits on the de jure independence of the regulators (RBI and IRDA).

Despite having reservations on a few issues, overall the Indian authorities expect the FSAP exercise to play a significant role in shaping India's post-crisis initiatives to strengthen the regulatory and supervisory architecture based on the evolving international consensus as well as careful examination of their relevance in the India-specific context. As a member of the FSB[19], BCBS[20] and IMF[21], India is actively participating in post-crisis reforms of the international regulatory and supervisory framework under the aegis of the G20. India remains committed to adoption of international standards and best practices, in a phased manner and calibrated to local conditions, wherever necessary, as it is a country characterised by complex and diverse socio-political and economic conditions.
