Acknowledgments

We would like to thank numerous people for their help in the research and editing of this book, including Pulaski Academy for their continued help and support, and the library staff at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. In addition, we would like to mention the staff at the National Archives, especially Ashby Crowder. Nicole Topich-Young assisted in the editing of the manuscript on numerous occasions. Professors Ross Marlay and Charles Hartwig were outstanding mentors and piqued our interest in Southeast Asian Studies and International Affairs during our time in graduate school at Arkansas State University. We must acknowledge our indebtedness to Louise Macfarlane at the Imperial War Museum, San San May, Curator, Burmese Section at British Library, Paul Rascoe, PCL Reference—Documents, Maps, Electronic Info Librarian at the University of Texas, and Lynne M. Thomas, Curator, Rare Books and Special Collections at Northern Illinois University, who kindly offered their services in helping to locate source material for this book.

Our editor at ABC-CLIO, Kaitlin Ciarmiello, was patient throughout the entire process and we could not have finished the manuscript without her guidance and support.

Finally, Bill would like to thank his wife, LaDonna, and their daughters Nicole and Kristin. They were all very supportive and had to endure Bill's extended time away during the research and writing stages. Keith would like to express his heartfelt thanks to his wife, Jamilya, for her sympathetic understanding, unwavering support, and seemingly boundless patience. He would also like to thank his daughter, Olivia, who always brings a smile to her dad's face.
