disadvantages of, 186
distributed information networks and, 119–20, 176, 177–78, 186, 189 education and, 142
elections and, 123–24, 150–51
evaluating, 134–36
freedom of the press and, 152–53, 154 human and civil rights and, 124–26, 147 information technology and, 185–86, 345–46
local, 144–45, 160
majority rule and, 120, 122, 124–25, 126–27
media and, 142, 146, 148–53
misinformation/disinformation and, 126–27 1960s cultural conflicts and, 186–87, 345
populism as threat to, 131–32 power of the people and, 129 self-correcting mechanisms and, 117, 119, 120–22, 123, 124–25, 128, 147, 151 Silicon Curtain and, 375
social order and, 188–89
Stone Age humans and, 136–38
success of, 309, 310
truth and, 127–28
truth–order balance and, 186–87
undermining of, 122–23, 133–34
See also democratic computer politics; political conversations democratic computer politics, 309–47 automation and, 316–22
conservative party self-destruction and, 322–26
data mining and, 311–12
decentralisation and, 312–13
digital anarchy and, 340–43
flexibility and, 325–26
regulation and, 340, 343–45
right to explanation and, 331, 333 stories and, 338–40
surveillance and, 309–16
See also unfathomability