Digit Community, assemble!

For a trip down memory lane like no other...

Over the last couple of months, we asked you to send us your memories of Digit, what this magazine, your friendly neighbourhood tech navigator, means to you. And you folks didn't disappoint. Compiling these responses had us teary-eyed and nostalgic at the same time. It also gave the current team awesome insights into what Digit means for its community. Without your love and support, we wouldn't have reached this milestone. Thank you!

Here are just a few of the responses shared with us over the past couple months.

1) SKOAR! as exam prep

When you launched the dedicated SKOAR! magazine featuring Doom 3, I was prepping for my board exams, and I convinced my parents to get a demand draft for 200 rupees to preorder the book by telling them SKOAR! was actually exam preparation material.

I have been reading Digit and Chip even before some of you were born. I just wanted to say that you are part of a great legacy – one that survived the test of time, and the legacy that brought computers close to Indian homes.

2) The CD that started a career

I was studying in my first year of college. Without the free Linux distro I got on a CD in the old days, I wouldn't have got a job in tech – I'm currently a DevOps architect. I first installed a Linux distro on my PC with your CD. Thanks again.
