KEY

JAPANESE FLEET

2 Japanese battleships

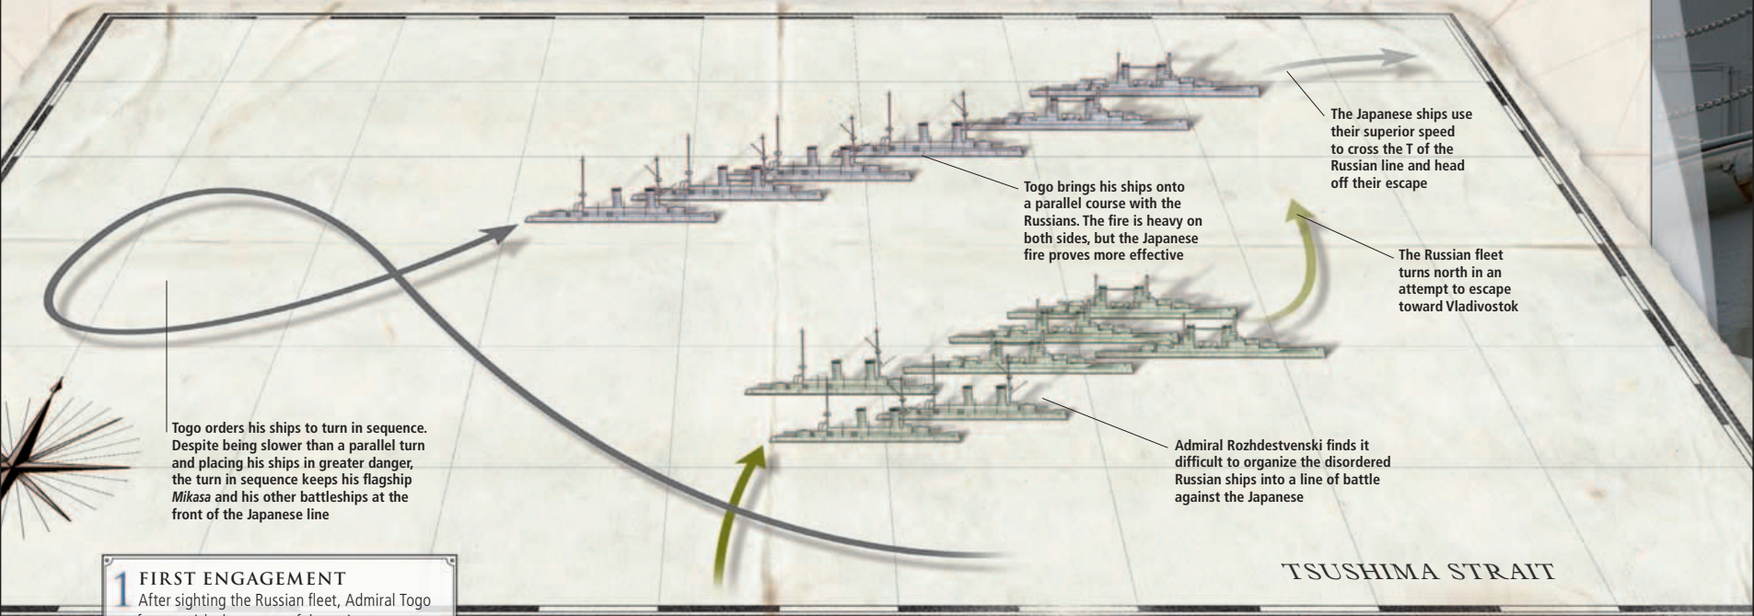

2 Japanese armored cruisers

RUSSIAN FLEET

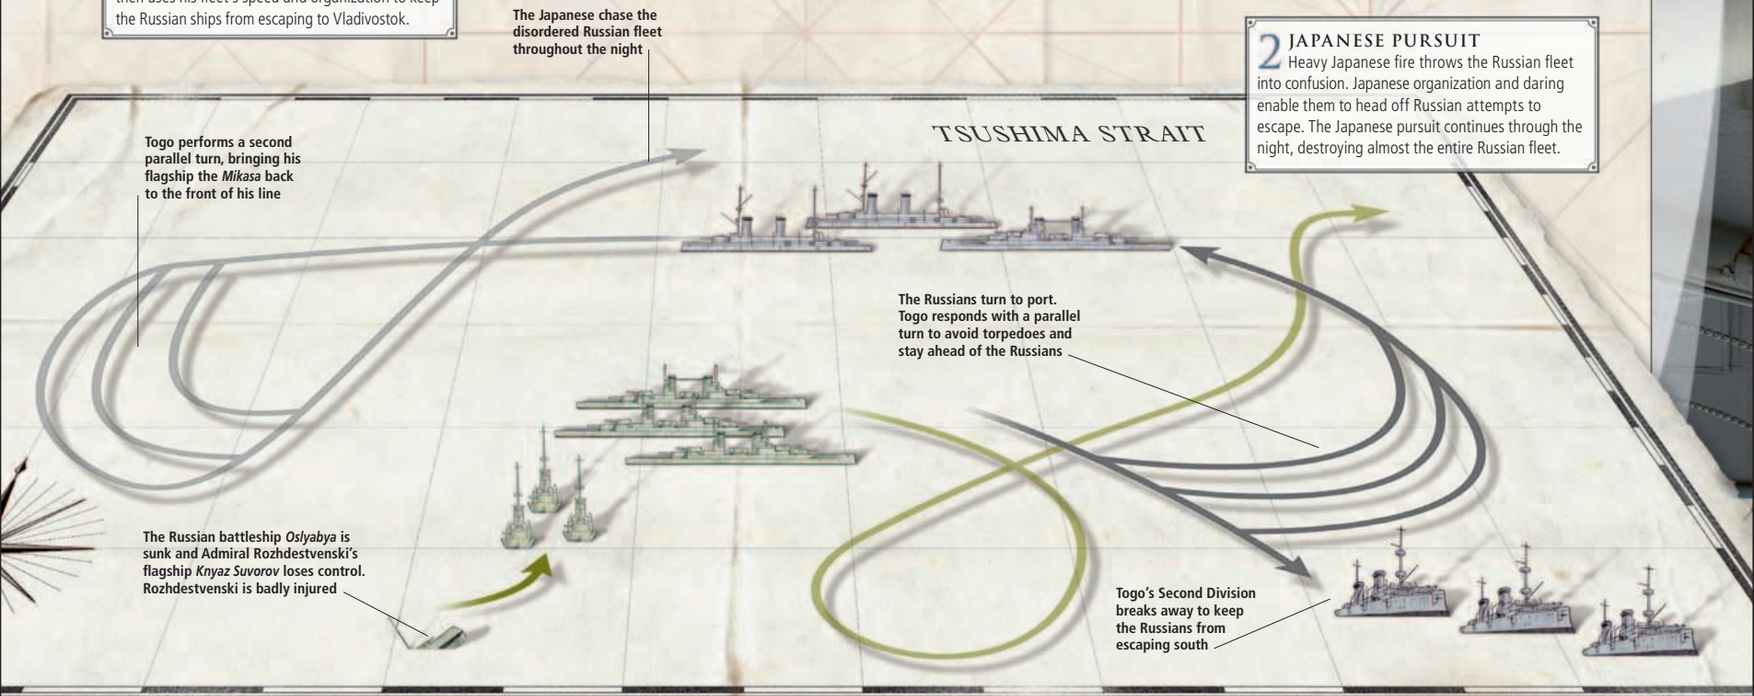

2 Russian battleships

2 Russian armored cruisers

> IT IS ABSURD TO THINK OF STEAMING VICTORIOUSLY INTO VLADIVOSTOK, OR OF GETTING COMMAND OF THE SEA! THE ONLY POSSIBLE CHANCE IS A DASH THROUGH … AFTER TWO, THREE, OR AT THE MOST FOUR SALLIES, WE SHALL HAVE BURNED ALL OUR SUPPLIES OF COAL …
>
> FLAG LIEUTENANT FILIPPOVSKY ABOARD KNYAZ SUVOROV, ON THE RUSSIAN FLEET'S PROSPECTS ON REACHING THE FAR EAST

1 FIRST ENGAGEMENT
After sighting the Russian fleet, Admiral Togo performs a risky but successful turn in sequence to bring his fleet parallel with the enemy and engage them using with superior Japanese gunnery. Togo then uses his fleet's speed and organization to keep the Russian ships from escaping to Vladivostok.

2 JAPANESE PURSUIT
Heavy Japanese fire throws the Russian fleet into confusion. Japanese organization and daring enable them to head off Russian attempts to escape. The Japanese pursuit continues through the night, destroying almost the entire Russian fleet.