

TRIUMPH OF THE JAPANESE NAVY

The French-built protected cruiser Matsushima, flagship of the Imperial Japanese Navy during the first Sino-Japanese War, fires a devastating broadside against a Chinese warship. Naval scenes such as this were a popular subject for Japanese artists of the period who reveled in the big ships and the imposing new technology of the rapidly modernizing Japanese Navy.