3 U Oo Tha Tun died in August 1990 in Sittwe Prison.
4 The Rakhine State National Force Party was deemed an ally of USDP and its leader had a background with the National Unity Party, the 1990s junta-backed political party. However, individuals involved in the Arakan Patriotic Party generally had opposition backgrounds and were Arakanese activists. Its leader, U Maung Maung Saw, was a painter with a national profile (Zon Pann Pwint 2013). U Maung Maung Saw was involved in the All Arakan Students and Youth Congress in the early 2000s and other activism against the junta in later years.
5 The NLD did not field a candidate for Constituency 5 covering Pauktaw and Myebon townships.
6 The ANP got 29.6 per cent for the State Hluttaw, 29.5 per cent for Pyithu Hluttaw but only 23.6 per cent in the Constituency 12 covering the whole Thandwe District, but did better with around 40 per cent in Kyaukpyu District (SEDI 2015).
