
Polished steel
Brass-bound butt
Holster with pistols facing forward
FRONT VIEW OF SADDLE
Saddle and saddle cover
This Hungarian pattern saddle is reconstructed according to a style of the early years of the 19th century. Light cavalrymen gained added comfort and style by means of a magnificent sheepskin shabraque or saddle cover.
Portmanteau with number of regiment
Strap attaching stock of carbine to pommel of saddle
Stirrup
Sheepskin saddle cover
Leather "wolf's teeth" edging, usually in colour of the regiment
Strap carrying carbine – at the end the muzzle slots into a leather boot