

Sword
The 15th-century European sword shown was about 1.1m (43in) long and could have been held in a one- or two-handed grip.

Quillon dagger
A typical 16th-century dagger, this sidearm was used for close combat.