

A Canadian lynx captures a snowshoe hare, its preferred prey. When hares are plentiful, a lynx will eat two every three days.

See also: Keystone species • The food chain • The ecosystem • Energy flow through ecosystems • Trophic cascades