

Blue-footed Boobies are driven to siblicide by genetic factors. The murder of a sibling can benefit a perpetrator while also ensuring the survival of the entire species.

See also: Animal ecology • Animal behavior • The food chain • The ecosystem • Ecological resilience