

This thermal image of an elephant shows how some of the animal's heat is lost. Both its body temperature and its manure are warmer than the surroundings.

See also: Ecological niches • Nonconsumptive effects of predators on their prey • The food chain • The ecosystem