

Spruce budworm larvae in Quebec, Canada, feed voraciously on fir and spruce before they pupate. Moths emerge about a month later, ready to mate.

See also: The food chain • The ecosystem • Energy flow through ecosystems • Trophic cascades