

Solar-powered autonomous stations such as this one, developed by the UK Centre for Ecology and Hydrology, can be used to identify and track organisms remotely.

See also: Citizen science • Man and the Biosphere Programme • Nature's contributions to people